

mini hockey sticks

- 1. You'll need red duct tape, (or any color you like), large Popsicle sticks, a glue gun, black buttons and scissors.
- 2. Cut the bottom quarter of a Popsicle stick at an angle. Snip strips of duct tape about a centimeter wide.
- 3. Glue the angled Popsicle stick piece to one end of the full-length Popsicle stick. Adhere the duct tape strips to the blade and shaft, imitating hockey tape.
- 4. Have fun playing table top hockey with your mini hockey sticks and buttons.

HOPSCOTCH WITH A TWIST

MATERIALS NEEDED:

Sidewalk Chalk

Flat stones, a bean bag, or anything that you can toss on the hopscotch board.

Imagination

Think of actions and motions for the game.

Draw your hopscotch path with chalk adding your ideas to each space.

Use the one above as an example or copy it if you like.

TO PLAY:

Version 1

Toss your stone or bean bag to land on the first space.
If it lands on a line, or outside the space you lose a turn.
Hop to that space on one foot.
Do what the space says to do.
Hop on one space to the end and back on one foot.
When you get to the space with your stone hop over to the end.
The next person takes a turn.

Version 2

Toss your stone to a space.
If your stone lands on a line or outside of a space, you lose that turn.
Hop on one foot until you get to the space. Do what it says to do. Leave your stone on the space.
Next person in line tosses their stone to a space, hops on one foot to that space, do what it says.
When it's your turn again, go to the space where your stone is and toss from there. Hop on one foot to the new space and then do what it says. Continue until someone gets to the end.

Version 3

Make up your own rules.

Prayer Chain

Make your own prayer chain.

Write down the things, or people that you prayed for on a strip of paper.

Staple it into a circle.

As you add names to strips of paper add them to your chain.

Hang your chain up so that you can see it each day as a reminder to say a little prayer.

Be sure to take a picture of your chain and send it to:

TUCCGodmoments@gmail.com.